MANHOOD
IN THE
YOUNG AND RISING GENERATION.

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S
EXTRACT BUCHU
For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves, no repose of manner, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this same result occurred to two patients. Reason had for a time them, and left both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute, neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere. Price $1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for 6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

DUNNING'S
PATENT IMPROVED
ICE PRESERVER
This Preserver is made of felt, flannel, and other materials which are non-conductors of heat, and as to its durability, it will last during one's natural life with ordinary care.
There is not a question but what it will save from one-half to two-thirds the quantity of ice used in Hotels, Boarding-houses, and Hospitals, to say nothing about the great amount of travel saved by servants.
As a cover for a pitcher of cold water to preserve it in that state, and protect it from the dust and impurities in the atmosphere which water always takes up, it is worth double the money asked for them. Where water is obtained from cold springs in cases of sickness, with no ice, and it is desirable to keep it cool, this Preserver is invaluable.
Think of the luxury and comfort it would afford to thousands of factory girls in the heat of summer, where four girls working together could furnish themselves with one for less than one dollar each, and by placing it over a two quart pitcher of ice in the morning they would find it sufficient for the whole day.
If it were only to keep a pitcher of cold water free from the dust common to all cotton, woolen, and other factories, the price would be no object, especially if the health of the operatives was taken into account.
The Flannel lining undergoes a chemical preparation which prevents it from being injured by the moisture.
Orders will be received for the Improved Patent Ice Preserver by the dozen, or for State, County or Town rights, by JAMES DUNNING,

Piscatory Card.
The subscriber tenders his profound acknowledgments to the appreciative citizens of Bangor, for the generous patronage they have extended to him for more than the quarter of a century past, during which he has been engaged in piscatorial labors; and he takes this momentous occasion to express his unhesitating belief, that they intend to continue that bountiful patronage for more than a quarter of a century longer, at the expiration of which he will probably retire with his well earned laurels unless his mind shall undergo a revolution, of which he now perceives no prospect, and he takes this opportunity to further express his belief, that, if there is anything he knows, it is FISH!
In view of all this, the Subscriber—who has been brevetted Piscator Major since his last communication—has the honor to announce that he will continue the domestic importation of ichthyological esculents, and that he has made extensive arrangements for their importation from foreign parts.
The domestic ports upon which he will levy contributions, are Boston, Gloucester, Cape Cod, Hull, Portland, Newcastle, Moosehead Lake, Mt. Desert, Wassataquoik, Abboljacknegus, Baskahegan, (where the giants congregate in gregarian multitudes), Pemaquid, Muscongus, and other places. The foreign parts are St. John, Petitcodiac, Shediac, Magaguadavic, McAdam Junction, Miramichi, Pombomcoup, Thibideauville, and other places whose names are too difficult to enunciate and enumerate.
The esculents with which he designs to regale the people of ichthyological and amphibious tastes and palates, are what, in ordinary language, are denominated Salmon, Shad, Codfish,—fresh and salt—Bass, Halibut, Alewives,—fresh and smoked—Whales, Sharks, Rhinoceroses, Bloaters, Skates, Bluefish, Suckers, Sculpins, Smelts, Catfish, Trout, Eels, Frogs, Perch, Pike, Dolphins, Flying-fish, Sword-fish, &c. Of the crustacean, Lobsters, Oysters, Clams, Muscles, Oyster-plants, Crabs, Tortoise, Mock-Turtle, and all the other univalves, bivalves and trivalves, that can be obtained from the Bay of Fundy, the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and elsewhere. And ever ambitious to please, he will if desired by any adequate customer, extend his enterprises into the regions of the Plesiosaurus and Icthyosaurus, and to the Grand Banks, Newfoundland and Labrador, every where to the extent of his ability during the coming season. He expects Prof. Agassiz to bring him several new kinds of Mollusca, when he returns from his exploring expedition, or at least, photographs of them! To conclude, my friends,

Upon my heart and diaphragm,
Your persons and your faces
Are deeply graven, and I am
Enchanted with their traces.
That you will ever keep them there
I make my intercession;
To give you FISH shall be my care,
For STAMPS that make impression!

All orders promptly and enthusiastically attended to.

PENOBSCOT RIVER.

THE HEADWATERS OF MAINE'S GREATEST RIVER—THE LUMBERMEN—EXTENT OF THE WATER POWER, &C.

We copy from the Boston Advertiser the following letter from a correspondent in this city:—

The chief source from whence Maine derives its wealth is its rivers. Preeminent among these is the Penobscot. No part of its basin extends beyond the boundaries of the State. It rises in the extreme northern portion of Maine, and is fed by innumerable lakes and ponds. The main river has two branches called the "west" and "east" branch. There are six rivers which are the principal tributaries of the Penobscot. From the right bank, the Kenduskeag, Pushaw and Piscataquis join at Bangor, Oldtown and Howland respectively, while on the left the Passadumkeag, Mattawamkeag and Mattagamon enter at Passadumkeag, Mattawamkeag and Nicatou, in the order given. The Penobscot, from the confluence of the Mattawamkeag to the open sea, is about 120 miles long; from the junction of the Mattagamon to the sea about 132 miles; from its extreme headwaters about 260 miles, or including its local windings, 300 miles in length. The number of lakes and ponds in the basin of the Penobscot represented on the State map is 467.

The most pleasant time to visit the Penobscot is in the summer, yet winter has its attractions too. Bangor is the central point from which tourists usually embark on their voyage of observation. You can, however, if you desire so to do, leave Boston in the Bangor steamer, and have an opportunity of examining the points of interest lying between the mouth of the river and the city of Bangor. In making this trip there are two objects that present themselves—the scenery and the lumber operations. Those who have made the scenery of the Penobscot a study pronounce in favor of the "east branch." As rapids, falls and dams present a formidable barrier to direct and easy navigation—either one of the two railroads lines which diverge from Bangor will assist one in making the journey. Leaving Bangor by the European and North American Railroad at 7.50 A. M., we arrive at Mattawamkeag at 10.40 A. M., sixty miles from our starting point; or we can leave the E. & N. A. road at Oldtown, a few miles above Bangor, and then take the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad which will take us to Guilford, fifty miles or more from Bangor. The scenery over either road is equally inviting. After leaving the train, quite a distance is still before us to be overcome by staging and private conveyance. Occasionally we shall find rough roads, but do not for an instant think of giving up, for glimpses of scenery are even now opening upon us sublime and beautiful in the extreme.—The Katahdin Mountains and other ranges of lesser magnitude are in the immediate vicinity of the head-waters of the Penobscot, while lakes and ponds are plentifully interspersed, forming great natural reservoirs for the life of the river. The scenery throughout all this vast area is diversified and subject to abrupt changes. The Katahdin Mountain, the highest in Maine, affords a prospect grand and inviting. From the highest peak an outlook is obtained of vast forests, in whose deep recesses the foot of man has never penetrated; of lakes upon whose crystal waves the wild fowls of these northern latitudes has no fear of molestation; of river, whose sinuous course seem like silver threads drawn upon a surface indurated with marked geological changes. The waters of the Penobscot, St. John and Kennebec seem woven together in inextricable confusion. To the expert lumbermen the work of disentanglement is at once simple and easy. As soon as the first snow falls, the "operator," living perhaps at Bangor, starts his men for the work. The choppers go as far as possible on the cars, then stage it to the terminus of the line, from which point they must go on foot to the region assigned for their winter's operations. The leaders form the advance line select the location, as near as possible to the side of a river or lake, and are followed by the cutters. Great judgment must be used in "falling" the trees; consequently, competent men receive a large remuneration. The "helpers" having arrived a short time before the cutters, have erected "camps" or log-houses, secured them against the assaults of the snows and winds, and made everything tight and comfortable. Before the onslaught of keen edges, propelled by stalwart arms, the kings of the forest are fast yielding, and havoc and ruin mark the path of these adventurous knights of the axe. The teams have now made their appearance, and from "early dawn to frosty eve," log piled upon log to which strong Penobscot horses are attached, are hauled to the side of the lake or river, or if the nature of the ground will admit of it, placed upon the icy surface, there to await the coming summer and "drive" to market two hundred miles or more away. Naturally one not accustomed to the long, cold winters of Maine would imagine that the lumbermen of these far-off down-east forests must suffer almost untold hard-ships and privations from cold and storm and want of companionship. To disprove this one has merely to go among these primeval solitudes, and when they once more return to the delights of civilization, they will say it is easy to be mistaken. Generally speaking, the lumbermen of Maine are intelligent. In the fall they take with them books and newspapers which assist wonderfully in beguiling time of its tediousness.—Mails also arrive as often as practicable. At night the fire burns brightly in the camp, sending huge shadows athwart the logs, while the story, jest and game, each in its turn, assist in passing the hour pleasantly. The history or romance is read to an appreciative audience, and all those odds and ends, which deprivation of times suggests are brought forth from the depository of some cunning brain for the delectation of the company.

Thus passes the winter merrily and pleasantly away. Too much snow impedes the successful handling of the lumber, and is as disastrous as too little. As soon as the ice leaves the lakes and the rivers, and the snow melting from the tops and sides of the mountains and hills helps raise the streams, the "driving season" commences; but as that is an exceedingly interesting subject, full of excitement and hair-breadth escapes, I must defer its description until some other letter.—Every element of scenery, to please the eye and charm the senses, is happily combined upon the banks of the Penobscot and within its valley. Flourishing villages unfold themselves here and there; factories and saw mills nestle in every valley; churches and schools are everywhere found, and a high moral tone pervades all classes. The developing of the vast water-powers of the Penobscot is slowly but surely coming about. The sides of every bluff all along the rivers are covered with lumber, either manufactured or ready for the transforming power of machine, while woollen and cotton goods are sent from these localities to all portions of the globe. The wealth long hidden among the eternal forests of Maine is bursting forth, and while the present generation [illegible] respect to its uniformity of volume at different seasons of the year. This is in due in part to the extent of its tributary area, in virtue of which the contributions of the various branches do not reach its chief manufacturing sites at the same time. It is due also to the more uniform surface aspect of the basin in respect to which it has decided advantages over many other rivers in Maine. The six principal tributary streams already named have an area of 4200 square miles; five minor streams tributary to the first-named have 1,100 square miles, while the Penobscot itself possesses 8200 square miles. Did space permit, it would be interesting to present many more facts respecting the capabilities of this magnificent river. Only a few years ago, comparatively, the vastness of the Penobscot as a commercial and water-power river was discovered. From that time to this it has steadily increased. New developments and new enterprises upon its banks follow each other in turn, and its inexhaustible power will be serviceable to the world as long as the generations of men shall continue to populate its banks.

THE TREATY CONTROVERSY.

A dispatch from Washington Sunday night gives the following statement as to the "situation" at that time, with reference to the controversy which has arisen over the presentation of our claims before the Tribunal of Geneva:—

While it is generally believed from newspaper statements that the Treaty of Washington will fail of execution, gentlemen in official positions are not willing to make such an admission. Nothing of the correspondence between the United States and Great Britain which has taken place since the respective statements of the Case have been filed with the Geneva Tribunal, has been given to the public; but enough is known through other channels to apprehend danger to the Treaty, owing to the objections of the British government to the presentation of claims for consequential damages, and in effect asking their withdrawal as a movement preliminary to an arrangement affecting further belligerency and neutrality and our refusal to accede to its wishes.

Private letters from London recently received here, positively say that the British government will withdraw from the Geneva Tribunal rather than go before it with our claims for consequential damages pending.—No such threat has, however, reached our government.

The question now is where it was several months ago, when "The Friendly Note" objecting to our presentation of that class of claims was received by this Government, the original positions of the two countries not having been in the least changed by the correspondence.

The reply of Secretary Fish to the last communication received from London will not reach its destination for 8 or 10 days and as the two Governments, where there is no need for haste, do not conduct their diplomacy by means of telegrams, it cannot be said that the Treaty has failed. While the Executive Department of the Government is committed against withdrawing the claims for consequential damages and in effect deny that England should, by implication, dictate to us a modification of the American Statement of the Case, it does not follow that negotiations are at an end. In this condition of misunderstanding between the two nations, and while this Government does not expect any moneyed consideration for consequential damages, but desires all claims of whatever character, to be disposed of forever by the Tribunal of Arbitrators, it will continue the correspondence, in the hope of removing the difficulty, so that if the Treaty shall fail, the responsibility will rest with Great Britain, and not with the United States.

The New York Times says it has documents showing that the great city frauds began when Hoffman was mayor, and that he signed warrants then and pursued the same suspicious course that Mayor Hall took. It as yet simply states the fact, but it promises to produce the proof at an early day.

A Republican convention of delegates from that portion of the fifth district west of the Penobscot river, will be held at Belfast, May 23d, to choose one delegate to the National Convention. The same day the Republicans on the east side of the river in Hancock county, will hold a convention in Ellsworth, for the purpose of choosing the other delegate.

STATE NEWS.

Scarlet fever has proved fatal in two or three recent cases in Augusta.

Rev. Francis C. Dyer of Bowdoinham, died Friday, aged fifty-eight years.

Alfred Crockett of Rockland, was severely injured Thursday, by the premature explosion of a charge of powder.

The Auburn Cadets have organized. The company now number about sixty members, from 14 to 18 years of age.

Capt. Joseph W. Torrey, a well known and respected ship-master of Bath, died Friday of lung fever. His age was fifty-two years.

John M. Loring a young man residing in Bath, was drowned by the capsizing of a sail-boat on Saturday morning.

Mr. J. H. Jacobs of Thomaston has received the appointment of mail agent on the Knox & Lincoln route.

Bath is agitating the question of a new city hall building, the old one proving unsafe for large gatherings and showing signs of decay.

Boothbay made in 1871, 454,000 gallons of menhaden oil, and 2,300 tons of guano. Sold for $187,000. This amount was taken from the water and turned into cash.

Three boys have been arrested in Lewiston for breaking into stores. Two of them were sent to the Reform School and the third is awaiting an examination.

Isaac Eastman of Lovell has lost four more cattle making five head out of his stock of six, under circumstances which indicate that their death was caused by some contagious disease.

The citizens of Moose River, having in their treasury some $360 received for reimbursements of war claims, voted to use it to build a school house. They also subscribed $500 additional.

Some of the logs from the Lakes started from Berlin on Monday, reached Lewiston, Thursday. The Androscoggin is at excellent driving pitch, and the logs come down rapidly.

A Mr. Evans of Boston, is about to establish a paper mill at Saccarappa. The paper is to be manufactured from wood. About $50,000 capital will be employed and about two tons of paper turned out per day.

The Knox colt which D. Dudley of Presque Isle, sold a few weeks ago to Mr. Clark of Kendall's Mills, for $500, has since been sold by Clark to Mr. Wells for $1000 and by Wells to New York parties for $2000.

A son of Wentworth Dresser of Standish was drowned Thursday afternoon in Little Ossipee river while rafting a boom of logs.—He was about 20 years of age. He fell between the logs and his head was jammed.

Price the bow oar of the St. John crew, arrived at Brunswick Thursday, and the College Six of Bowdoin have entered upon their practice for the American College regatta.—Fulton of the St. John crew will do the final coaching of the six and go with them to the race. The crew will consist of Hooker of the senior class, Crocker, Ladd and Robinson of the junior class, Hunter of the Sophomore and Sargent of the Freshman classes.

Friday last as Freddie Lally of Portland, aged about ten years, was paddling about on a raft upon Waltham Pond in Waltham, Massachusetts, his foot slipped and he fell overboard. A young boy aged about fourteen years saw the accident from the second story window of a house not far distant and situated on the corners of the pond. Without a moment's hesitation he jumped from the window to the ground, rushed to the water, plunged in with his clothes on, and saved Freddy just as he was sinking for the third time.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last Sunday evening, by four prisoners confined in Wiscasset jail to escape. One of them stood near the door to draw the jailor inside, and one concealed himself in the corner cell ready to attack him with a club. There arrangements being made, a call was made for water, and when Mr. Boynton opened the door prisoner number one made an attack on him and succeeded in fastening to his throat, but the scuffle and noise soon brought Mr. Call, the turnkey, to the door and also a Mr. Davis, who happened to be at the jail at the time, and the men were speedily secured. On examination their clothes and some provisions were found to be packed in a valise in the corner cell.

WHAT THE GREELEY TICKET MEANS

It is easy to understand the motive that underlies the remarkable protestations of friendliness that have been lavished upon Mr Greeley since the Cincinnati nominations, by Democratic journals which have hitherto most persistently and fiercely abused him. Their new born friendship is entirely attributable to the fact that Mr Greeley has taken a position which makes him a virtual ally of the Democracy and as that party is willing to purchase a chance of political success at any cost of self stultification they are ready to sound the praises of any man upon any platform if it will bring them nearer to the offices for which they have hungered these many years. The decision of the Democratic Convention, will, therefore, be determined solely by the chances of getting control of the Government, regardless alike of principles or men, except in so far as they may be turned to account in grinding the Democratic grist. Mr. Greeley has already appealed strongly for an endorsement at Baltimore, and parades with much satisfaction the list of Democratic journals which support him and if he shall not be the regular candidate of the Bourbons in the coming campaign, it will not be through any coyness on his part. The relative position of Horace Greeley and the Democratic party, and the real effect of voting for him as a candidate for the Presidency, are pointedly set forth in the following sentences from the N Y Independent, which are well worth reading —

Should the Democratic party whose convention has not yet been held, so confess its own weakness and stultify itself as to adopt the Greeley ticket, then it will do so simply to defeat the Republican party, and thus gain by indirect means what cannot be directly gained. Using the ticket to attract Republican votes, Democracy would calculate to win, and in the event of success, would win Mr Greeley, elected mainly by Democratic votes would be a very pliable instrument in the hands of his Democratic supporters. He would answer as a stepping stone, for the want of a better one, to place the Government under Democratic control The plan would be not only to elect him as President, but also secure a Democratic majority in the next House of Representatives, and in the Legislatures of as many States as possible gradually change the political complexion of the United States Senate, and in the end restore the national ascendency of the Democratic party This is what the leaders would hope to accomplish by using Mr Greeley as their tool. Republicans who do not mean to become downright apostates ought to have sense enough to understand the game in the event that the Democracy shall conclude to adopt the Cincinnati ticket. No admiration for Mr Greeley should lead them to incur the peril of voting for him Sustained by the Democratic party, he is to all intents and purposes the Democratic candidate, and if the Republicans would not vote for Horatio Seymour they should not for Horace Greeley, when standing in this position The fact that he was once a Republican should go for nothing It should be regarded as a dead fact, having no relation to the duties of the present.

The case as it now appears, and as it will appear, admits of no supposition that commends Mr Greeley to Republican support Voting for him as the candidate of a third party is simply throwing away votes, to the peril and damage of Republicanism Voting for him as the accepted candidate of the Democracy is practically casting a Democratic vote. The unerring instinct of the great body of the Republicans will discern the real meaning of such voting Whatever may be their criticisms upon Grant, they are not prepared to hand over the Government to Democratic management. They see—what the colored people in their recent national convention at New Orleans so happily state—that "all roads out of the Republican party lead into the Democratic camp" This fact, thoroughly ventilated before the canvass closes will be quite enough to dispose of the Greeley ticket with all Republicans who mean to maintain their principles and save the country from the curse of Democratic rule They are not going to deceive themselves, or to be deceived by mere words There is no talismanic power in either the name or the record of Mr Greeley that can conceal or disguise the real issue involved in the next Presidential contest The simple question is this Shall Democracy be restored to power, or shall Republicans retain their control of the Government?"

General Schenck has pleasant and notable people to see him at his house on Saturday evenings He strikes the Briton as a plain practical man who knows thoroughly what he is about His right arm was injured during the war and in shaking hands he uses the left hand An English journalist says If the General is not himself another Talleyrand he is supported just now by very able men Among all the visitors at the parties referred to the person of Mr Evarts the American lawyer, who is here to advise the American Commissioners in the Alabama difficulty is perhaps, the most striking His features denote remarkable decision and power When I first saw him I exclaimed to myself Only to think of poor Earl—in the hands of such a master as that' Mr Evarts would be a match, I think, for the ablest lawyer we have

Our dispatches announce that the whole correspondence with reference to the Treaty was sent to the Senate yesterday, and we hope it will soon be given to the public The reported breaking off of negotiations has been contradicted as we supposed it would be, but in the great interest excited upon the subject, one sensational report follows another with such rapidity that it is difficult to sift the fact from the fiction. It is quite certain that the Treaty has not yet failed and that it will not, unless the President and the Senate find it incompatible with our national rights and dignity to yield to the demands of the British Ministry.

The N Y Times asserts that the court for the trial of Judge Barnard has been deliberately packed. About all of the managers are men who have opposed impeachment and have fought for Barnard through thick and thin. It charges the Greeley Republicans in the Legislature with bringing about this result by selling out to the Democrats for their support in the Presidential contest.

Morrison's Mills, below Fredericton, N B, were completely destroyed by fire on Saturday night. The mill had three gang-saws, and two [illegible] machines, and employed over one hundred men and boys, who are now thrown out of work. Mr. Morrison was insured in the [illegible] London and Globe Offices for [illegible] [illegible]

The [illegible] Portsmouth [illegible] to his ministry.

By our Congressional report it will be seen that Dan Voorhees of Indiana got himself on record against Greeley in very emphatic language, in the House yesterday. His speech will hardly prove comforting to the Portland Argus in its new-born admiration for the Tribune Philosopher; but his declaration that General Grant has done more and kinder things for the Southern people than the Cincinnati nominee will find a response from thousands of candid men in that misguided and unfortunate section.

The Cincinnati Commercial already threatens to bolt Mr Greeley in a certain contingency. It says. "Whether we will find it our duty to urge upon our fellow-citizens the election of Horace Greeley to the Presidency depends largely upon that which may be done by the regular organizations of the old existing political parties Mr Greeley a few weeks ago frankly stated that he would support the Cincinnati nominee, provided the Democratic party did not appear in the field in form, attempting to take advantage of Republican divisions, and that in case there was a regular Democratic nomination, he would support the strongest Republican candidate We have made similar reservations as to our position in case of the nomination of Mr Adams, and we repeat them in respect to Mr Greeley"

The Blairs are an irrepressible family.—They have a way of popping up to public view when least expected, and, like Banquo's shade, refuse to "down" at bidding of foe or friend Now comes forward the Hon Montgomery in a letter indorsing Greeley and Brown He opposes the nomination of a Democratic ticket as "both disastrous and disgraceful." He says with some force —"They (the Democrats) all gave in their adhesion to the Cincinnati Convention, and the most obstreperous of Greeley's opponents had their candidates before the Convention—Voorhees, for example, was loud in his advocacy of Judge Davis, and the World was earnest in pressing Adams. Now, there certainly can be no greater departure from principle in supporting Greeley than there would be in supporting Davis or Adams, or any other radical' If this be true, what a commentary on the once proud Democratic party!

It has been customary for people, even in the same profession, to ascribe any article particularly strong and brilliant in the Tribune to the pen of Horace Greeley. But now we are told, whenever these articles are quoted against the present attitude of the Sage, that he not only never wrote them, but that they were the productions of his "hirelings acting against his orders." Thus, we are informed Mr Greeley never wrote a line in favor of the conviction of Andrew Johnson still less against Senator Trumbull for voting judicially against such conviction, and that as soon as he could gather the reins again in his hands, he discharged the author of these florid utterances Again, we are comforted by the assurance that those celebrated "On to Richmond" trumpet blasts were written by C A Dana, now of the Sun, who could counterfeit "Uncle Horace's" style to perfection! Next we expect to be told that Horace never wrote those articles on "What I know of Farming" Such are the exigencies of political life

THE SINFUL GAME Samuel Bowles resolutely carries out to the end his explicit exposition of "the sinful game of Frank Blair" as he still calls it, which resulted in the nomination of Greeley He says the result is a serious defeat, not only of the whole Free Trade party of the West, but of Carl Schurz, who was beaten in the Convention, and is beaten in Missouri The Blairs and the Browns, who dislike him, have thrust him on a back seat for the present. Mr Bowles traces the machinations and trickery which, as he says, left the Convention in "a demoralized and flabby state," and led to the success of the Greeleyites He admits that "a feeble attempt to carry a unanimous vote met with such tokens of dissent that it was quietly abandoned As one of the fathers and most active engineers of the Liberal movement, Mr Bowles' testimony is peculiarly significant

At the afternoon session of the Woodhull Convention in New York a resolution was adopted authorizing the issue of bonds for the expenses of the campaign. The bonds are to be payable 'when the people succeed in obtaining possession of the government.' Some $3000 were pledged

SPANISH FINANCES —According to the Spanish Budget, the expenditures for the last fiscal year are 602,000,000 pesetas and the receipts 548,000,000 pesetas The Budget proposes to levy a tax of ten per cent on railway fares. The tax on interest of internal debt is retained Legacies are also taxed and the tax on landed property is increased ten per cent The Budget for the Clergy is continued substantially without change

THE WASHINGTON MONUMENT —A Washington dispatch says the Committee on the District of Columbia approve the bill appropriating $200,000 for the completion of the Washington Monument Already $230,000 have been expended upon the work and $822,000 will be needed to complete the shaft, while the cost of the whole work, including shaft and "Pantheon" or base, is estimated at $1,220,000

It is reported that a change is taking place in the vice presidential question Mr Colfax's friends are lately more confident and claim the administration influence in his favor

PACIFIC SLOPE POLITICS A San Francisco dispatch says the Liberal Republicans will organize for the Presidential contest throughout California, immediately Frank Pixley announces his intention to stump the State for Greeley

Advices from Washington Territory say that the appointment of Governor Ferry is sure to make a split in the Republican party of the Territory

In Oregon the Democrats are dissatisfied with the State ticket and there will probably be three tickets in the field

THE NEW ORLEANS CUSTOM HOUSE.—The Congressional Committee that recently investigated affairs at New Orleans have just presented their printed report to the President, and he for the first time had an opportunity of examining it critically. In consequence of this examination he has requested the resignation of Mr. Casey, Collector of Customs at New Orleans, and that of Mr Herwig, his Deputy. There is nothing in the report to show that these gentlemen were not honest and efficient in the discharge of their duties as Custom House officers, but owing to the character of some portions of the testimony it was thought that a change in these offices would promote the general interests of the public service.

The Alabama Controversy!

A New Phase Reported!

ENGLAND PROPOSES AN ADDITIONAL ARTICLE TO THE TREATY

THE QUESTION OF INDIRECT DAMAGES TO BE SETTLED?

THE PROPOSITION TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE SENATE!!

The Correspondence sent to the Senate Monday!!

THE HERALD'S LAST SENSATION—ENGLAND OFFERS A COMPROMISE.

NEW YORK, May 12. The Herald's Washington dispatch says that on Saturday morning Secretary Fish hastened to the President with a dispatch from Minister Schenck informing him of the acceptance by the British Government of the final proposition he had made to Lord Granville on Friday, with respect to our consequential claims.

A FOURTH RULE TO THE TREATY—NON-LIABILITY FOR INDIRECT DAMAGES.

The proposition was for a short supplemental treaty bearing on the questions of indirect claims alone. These claims, it was suggested by Mr. Fish, could be covered by a fourth retrospective rule laid down for the guidance of the Geneva Tribunal, setting forth that whenever the United States and Great Britain was engaged in war and the other power was a neutral and by want of due diligence on the part of the neutral any privateer or hostile vessel should escape from its waters, or equip or renew its hostile strength in neutral ports, the latter should only be liable for direct damages inflicted upon the belligerent by the operations of such vessels.

OUR CLAIMS NOT TO BE WITHDRAWN.

The effect of such an understanding would be to enable the United States to leave its whole case before the Tribunal as originally presented, by removing the objection that the consequential claims we had preferred found no sanction or warranting in the Treaty. The agreement of the Gladstone Ministry to this proposal of Friday was not hoped for until Minister Schenck's dispatch was received.

THE CORRESPONDENCE TO BE SENT TO THE SENATE.

The President will submit the correspondence to the Senate in an Executive communication, and will ask that body to advise and consent to a supplemental treaty.

A CONSULTATION.

Leading Republican Senators, it is said, at the White House Saturday evening and had a long conference with the President. The prospects of success of the supplemental treaty were discussed and the consultation will tend materially to insure its favorable consideration by the Senate.

WHAT THE "TIMES" SAYS—PUBLISHING THE CORRESPONDENCE.

The Times' Washington dispatch states that the statements of Gladstone and Granville covering the correspondence relative to the Washington Treaty, will probably be given to Parliament—it is thought prior to the adjournment for the Whitsuntide recess. If the entire correspondence is thus submitted to England, the President will send the same to the Senate as an Executive document, and this correspondence will cover all despatches, telegraphic and mail, which have passed, including the very latest.

THE PRESIDENT DESIROUS OF PUBLICITY.

If only a brief statement of the case is made in Parliament then it is probable that a like course will be pursued here in a Message to the Senate, although the President is anxious that the whole correspondence should go before the country at an early day. He is confident that the action of the Administration will be fully approved.

A BRITISH PROPOSAL.

Some weeks ago the British Cabinet made a proposition to settle the principles involved in the indirect claims by negotiations outside the Geneva Tribunal, believing this Government did not press for any award of money damages. But they assumed that the indirect claims were to be withdrawn in consequence of such a proposal being made. This assumption led to a serious misunderstanding.

THE REPLY OF OUR GOVERNMENT

was that while we were willing not to press for a pecuniary verdict, it had to press for a desire to settle a principle of international law outside the Tribunal save by the advice and consent of the Senate. To this the British Cabinet has responded, proposing in positive terms a new article to the Treaty, which will be communicated to the Senate to-day, with the rest of the correspondence and upon which the Senate is expected to take action.

THE NEW ARTICLE PROPOSED.

This new article it is understood, will set forth these facts and propositions, viz: That, Whereas, Great Britain holds that the question of consequential damages is not referred to the Geneva Tribunal for arbitration, and Whereas, The United States holds directly the reverse, and Whereas, Both Governments are agreed as to the manner in which the principle involved shall be settled:

Therefore, this new article which declares that hereafter neither nation shall make any claims upon the other for consequential damages because of any failure on the part of either to observe strict neutrality when the other is a belligerent, is proposed to be held as such settlement in accordance with the well understood desire of the two Governments.

WAITING THE ACTION OF THE SENATE.

If unfavorably acted on by the Senate the indirect claims will be withdrawn.

FROM WASHINGTON—THE PAPERS SENT TO THE SENATE—NO CONCLUSION REACHED.

WASHINGTON, May 13. The President to-day sent to the Senate all correspondence in relation to the Alabama case. It includes the latest telegrams and shows that several propositions have been made to accommodate the differences as to claims for consequential damages, though no conclusion has yet been reached. The correspondence will not be published unless the Senate shall remove the injunction of secrecy.

THE CONFERENCE

at the Executive Mansion Saturday night, was between the President and about a dozen Republican Senators, and not with Cabinet officers.

MR. GLADSTONE'S EXPLANATION OF THE NEGOTIATIONS REGARDING THE INDIRECT CLAIMS AND THE POSITION TAKEN BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

London, May 13. In the House of Commons this evening, Mr. Gladstone made his promised explanation of the negotiations regarding the indirect claims and the position taken by the Government. The House was full and the galleries crowded. Mr. Gladstone on rising was greeted with cheers. He said that in order to allow an opportunity for discussion on the statements he was about to make he would bring a formal motion for the adjournment of the House. After alluding in terms of praise to the forbearance shown by Parliament during the controversy, he said he would commence his narrative of its progress with the 18th of January, when it first became known to him that the claims for indirect damages had been presented at Geneva. In her case Her Majesty's Government protested on the 3d of February that the indirect claims were not within the scope of the Treaty of Washington or within the intention of either party to the Treaty. Secretary Fish replied in April, that he thought the Geneva Board ought to decide the entire question. The tone of Mr. Fish's dispatches was most courteous. In the meantime a communication was received from Mr. Schenck, the American Minister, suggesting another course, which would be acceptable to England and America. This was an interchange of notes, setting forth the views, terms and conditions wherein both would agree to proceed to Arbitration. We accepted this suggestion, continued Mr. Gladstone, and carried on the correspondence altogether by telegraph. On Wednesday, the 8th instant, President Grant submitted a proposition to the U. S. Senate. On Thursday we ascertained that the proposition was not precisely as it 'should' be, because of the brevity of the cable dispatches on which it was based. On Friday a draft covering the better of our views, was forwarded to Minister Schenck, and, although lengthy, was immediately telegraphed by him to Washington.

On Saturday Mr. Schenck informed Lord Granville that the President had accepted and the Senate entertained that draft. Mr. Gladstone thought this fact was almost equivalent to a ratification. He begged the further forbearance of the House now the question was approaching a satisfactory issue, honorable alike to both nations. If successful in this negotiation Her Majesty's government had a right to expect praise for settling a momentous question. The last proposal of Gladstone in part of Great Britain sustained the position taken by the government in the Queen's speech at the beginning of the present session. Mr. Gladstone in concluding said that he thought that he was not too sanguine in predicting that the negotiations would result in a settlement which would redound to the credit of both parties. As Mr. Gladstone took his seat there was loud and repeated cheering from all parts of the House. Disraeli followed with thanks to the Premier for his statement. He should not seek to embarrass the government. Whatever differences existed on other subjects all parties were united in the desire for a peaceful and honorable settlement. In the House of Lords Earl Granville made a statement similar to that of Gladstone. Earl Russell again postponed his motion for an address to the Crown to withdraw from arbitration. He hoped that the question was no longer one between the honor of the Crown and the reelection of President Grant. Earl Derby and the Duke of Richmond expressed the hope that the new proposition of the British government was unambiguous. They had heard enough of misunderstandings.

FROM NEW YORK.

THE STRIKE.

NEW YORK, May 13. The carpenters strike to-day for eight hours. Several of the bosses have already agreed to their demands.

MURDER—RUM DID IT.

Early Sunday morning Bernard Moran struck his brother-in-law, Robert Hayes, in Brooklyn, a severe blow on the neck, causing death in a few minutes. Both parties had been drinking. Hayes was formerly of Lynn and Moran was also from the east, and is a one armed soldier.

DEMOSTHENES REPUDIATED.

The French Internationals yesterday adopted a resolution repudiating the Woodhull-Douglass ticket, and an appeal will be made to the Federal Council to exclude section 12, Woodhull section from the Council.

VERSUS WHITELEY.

Gabriel Chiera will bring a suit in the Supreme Court to-day, against Col. Whiteley, chief of the U. S. Detective Service, claiming damages for assault, extortion and false imprisonment.

AT THE METHODIST CONFERENCE

Dr. Wiseman and Morley Punshon, delegates from London, took leave, requesting that delegates be sent to the London Conference. The Special Committee on the Book Concern frauds called for the report, but it was not ready.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE NATIONAL UNION LEAGUE.

WASHINGTON, May 13. The National Union League of America will meet at Columbia Hotel, Philadelphia, on Thursday next. The meeting will be an important one in view of the present political situation, and there will be a full attendance from all parts of the country.

CLAIMS—COLLECTORS.

The President has approved the act authorizing the Commission on Claims to appoint Special Commissioners to take testimony, and for other purposes.

Of the six Collectors of Customs at Mobile since the close of the war, the accounts of Willard Warner are the ones which have been closed.

CASEY'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Casey's successor as Collector at New Orleans will not be appointed for several days.

MASSACHUSETTS.

THE AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

LOWELL, May 13. The Executive Committee of the New England Agricultural and Middlesex North Societies meet in this city to-day, for the purpose of appointing the local officers for the Fair to be holden in this city Sept. 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th. E. M. Reed, President of the Middlesex North, was appointed general superintendent, and various committees were appointed.

FEATURES OF THE FAIR.

Very liberal premiums are offered for trotting. It was voted to have a grand trial of steam fire engines on some day of the Fair, and all the leading manufacturers in the country will be invited to compete. It is also proposed to have a mechanical department and steam power provided for operating the various machines that may be entered.

FROM CHICAGO.

MURDER AND ROBBERY.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 13. Last night an old gentleman named Mumford of this city, who was visiting his son, a farmer, living two miles from Kenosha, Wis., was murdered in his bed, his skull being crushed by some blunt instrument. A young German lately employed on the farm and who left Saturday night, is supposed to be the murderer. His watch and $100 were taken.

DELAWARE.

ESCAPE OF MUTINEERS.

LEWES, May 13. The ship Jason from Philadelphia for Antwerp has been detained here since the 8th by the insubordination of her crew. Yesterday the mutineers were stolen from the ship by parties from the tug Mary of Lewes and landed and have disappeared in the pines.

FROM ALBANY.

THE ASSEMBLY IMPEACHMENT.

ALBANY, May 13. It is regarded as uncertain that the legislature will adjourn sine die, Thursday afternoon. The Senate will meet this afternoon to organize as a court of impeachment and then adjourn till Monday next. On reassembling on that day they will serve articles of impeachment on Judge Barnard and adjourn for one month or perhaps till the first of July when the court will reassemble again at Saratoga or in New York City.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER
WASHINGTON, May 14.—1 A. M.

A falling barometer, southerly to easterly winds and increasing cloudiness for Tuesday from the western gulf to Lake Erie and the upper lakes, and probably threatening weather with and area of rain from the Missouri Valley to Lakes Superior and Michigan; northerly to westerly winds, generally clear and pleasant weather and a rising barometer over New England, Middle and South Atlantic States, the wind shifting to the easterly and southerly over the lower region. Dangerous winds not anticipated.

CONNECTICUT.

SENATOR NOMINATED.

HARTFORD, Ct., May 13. The Democratic members of the Legislature, in caucus this evening at New Haven, nominated O. S. Ferry for Senator.

FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.

SENATE.

A substitute for the House bill relative to the preparation and issue of U. S. notes was reported from the finance committee and agreed to. The bill passed, increasing by 20 per cent. the pensions of soldiers and sailors who lost both eyes, both legs, both hands or otherwise totally disabled in the war. Mr. Schurz made a personal statement that his absence when the vote was taken on the amnesty bill was occasioned by sickness and that he had paired off on that vote with Nye.

Mr. Wilson introduced a bill giving a New York company the exclusive right to work an iron mine at West Point. A conference committee was appointed on disagreeing with the amendments of the House to the bill for refunding the taxes on bonded spirits lost by fire or other casualties.

The bill amendatory to the enforcement act was taken up. Mr. Casserly offered an amendment that no officer in the employ of the Federal government shall in any way have anything to do with the elections. He supported his amendment by stating that government officers connected with the Navy Yard at Mare's Island exercised an undue influence at the last State election.

Mr. Cole agreed with his colleague in condemning whatever was wrong or unfair in the manner of conducting the election at Mare's Island but he believed that his colleague was mistaken. The Senate went into executive committee at 2.30 o'clock and remained therein until 4 o'clock. Then in the open session Mr. Casserly's amendment was rejected. The first section by a vote of 31 yeas to 21 nays and the second section by a vote of 19 to 31. Several other amendments were offered but no further action being taken on the bill or amendments the Senate took a recess.

HOUSE.

Among the numerous bills introduced and referred were the following:—

By Mr. W. R. Roberts of New York, directing the President to intercede with the Canadian authorities for the discharge of Fenian prisoners.

By Mr. Brooks of New York, to establish an iron shipbuilding yard on waters falling into the Atlantic, and another on the Mississippi or one of its tributaries, and to afford facilities to the navy.

Mr. Voorhees of Indiana, made a personal explanation in regard to his position on the nomination at the Cincinnati Convention. He declared himself most emphatically against Greeley, and intimated his preference for Grant as between the two.

Mr. Voorhees submitted a paragraph from the Washington Republican to the effect that he was halting and hesitating on the question of supporting Greeley, and as all his Democratic colleagues were all said to be in favor of Greeley, he was likely to lose the favor of the district where his voice was so long potential. He declared that he did not halt or hesitate as to the nominee of the Cincinnati Convention. Whoever believed in his high protective tariff principles might support him but he (Voorhees) would not. Greeley was the life-long champion of doctrines he (Voorhees) opposed. The most clamorous advocate in all the land for Ku-Klux legislation which desolated the homes of southern people, while the greatest administration, had simply executed a law dictated to Congress by the Cincinnati nominee. Within a recent date Greeley had desired a further extension of the President's power to suspend the habeas corpus, and he was an earnest and urgent advocate of the present force bayonet election law. He had two months ago claimed upon as a friend of the southern people to vote for a man who advocated the right of secession, and yet, when the southern people did what he told them, no wild beast hungry for blood ever screamed over his prey as Greeley did "On to Richmond," to kill every one of them for doing what he told them they had a right to do. A red sea of blood had not been enough to satisfy this man, but he had also insisted upon the confiscation of the houses and property of women and children of the South. Others might do as they liked, but it was better to do right than to succeed. He protested against the right to transfer the Democrats of the country to a camp where there was nothing belonging to them.

Mr. Roosevelt of New York, asked if Mr. Voorhees would support the candidate of the Baltimore Convention.

Mr. Voorhees was not in the habit of voting against Democratic nominations. He believed the gentleman himself would have some difficulty in answering his own questions, but he did not despair of success. He would stand by his own party and would vote for the man who represented them. He had no fears of what the Baltimore Convention would do, but he could not vote for a man who spoke of the Democratic party as one to which all the haunts of debauchery gave nine-tenths of their support.

Mr. Voorhees said he sometimes regarded it as a piece of reckless impertinence on the part of Greeley to offer himself as a bail for Jeff. Davis, and added that when Andrew Johnson and Edwin M. Stanton proposed to arrest Generals Lee and Johnston and others, and there was but one man who could prevent it, General Grant told them that these men had given him their parole as soldiers and that parole should be respected. If he should be driven to take the stump to press the claims of Greeley, he would find a candidate opposing him, who had done more and kinder things for the South than this nominee had done.

Mr. Roosevelt suggested that Mr. Voorhees had been recently in conference with President Grant.

Mr. Voorhees said that he had not crossed the threshold of the White House for three years, and whoever made such a statement, made a vile calumny.

Mr. Roosevelt had been informed some days ago that such an interview occurred.

Mr. Voorhees—Then the gentleman associates with men who don't tell the truth.

Mr. Randall of Pa. asked if Mr. Voorhees would have voted for Judge Davis and advocated his election if nominated at the Cincinnati Convention?

Mr. V. said there were many things in common with their views, and Davis if nominated would probably have been accepted by the majority of the Democratic party.

Mr. Randall would not vote for either of them so opposed by the Democratic party.

Mr. Voorhees—That's right.

Mr. Randall—And I should vote for either of them if endorsed by the Democratic Convention.

Mr. Bird of N. J. would not vote for either of them if he was endorsed.

Mr. Kerr of Indiana said that so far as the statement in the Republican referred to him it was simply untrue.

Mr. Niblack of Ind. made the same remark adding that nothing but the power of organization would compel him to vote for Greeley but whenever the Democratic party acted on the question he would yield obedience to its action.

Mr. Holman of Ind. also repudiated the Republican's article, so far as it referred to him; he did not propose to forestall the action of the Baltimore Convention.

Mr. B. F. Myers introduced and asked leave to have passed a bill for the relief of the sufferers by the late fire at Somerset, Pa., similar to the Chicago bill.

Mr. Butler of Mass. desired it extended to the sufferers by the fire at Ayer, Mass.

Objections were made and the bill was referred.

Mr. Butler, from the judiciary committee, reported a bill removing political disabilities from all persons who were related in the late rebellion, except Senators and Representatives in the 36th and 37th Congresses, officers in judicial, military and naval service of the United States and heads of departments and foreign ministers of the United States.

Mr. Cox of N. Y., suggested that the bill was one of the results of Greeley's nomination at Cincinnati.

Mr. Butler said it was not, nor was it the result of Mr. Voorhees speech. (Laughter.)

Mr. Eldridge of Wis., remarked that it was the best and most liberal bill of the kind that ever passed the House.

The bill passed by the requisite two-thirds vote and without a division.

Mr. Butler also reported a bill removing political disabilities from some 25,000 persons by name, which was also passed.

Mr. Farnsworth of Ill., asked to have passed the bill removing all political disabilities.

Mr. Pierce of Miss., objected.

Mr. Elliott of S. C., moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution directing the judiciary committee to report the supplementary civil rights bill.

Negatived—yeas 115—nays 77; less than two-thirds in the affirmative.

Mr. Sargent of Cal., moved to suspend the rules and pass a bill appropriating $10,000 for a life size marble statue of the late Senator Baker of California by Horatio Stone.—

On motion of Mr. [illegible] of New York, the [illegible] apart for business of the committee on foreign affairs.

On motion of Mr. Donnan of Iowa, all debate on the tariff bill was ordered closed at 3 o'clock next Thursday, by a vote of 127 to 59.

Mr. Wilson of Ind., from judiciary committee, reported a bill to establish a circuit court for the western district of Missouri. Passed.

Mr. Sessions of N. Y., from Com. on public buildings, reported a bill appropriating $300,000 for government buildings in Memphis, Tenn. Passed.

Mr. Wells, from the same Com., reported a bill appropriating $35,000 for a pavilion marine hospital building at San Francisco.—Passed.

Mr. Holman, from Com. on commerce, reported back the Senate bill authorizing the construction of another rail-road bridge across the Mississippi river at Quincy. Passed with amendments.

The House at 4.45 p. m., took a recess.

The evening session will be devoted to the bill codifying the pension laws.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

—Nice pleasant day yesterday.

—Mr. Thos. Allen of this city is laying out and grading the grounds around the Wasaunkeag Hotel at Fort Point.

—Grass looks well since the rain, and (barring grasshoppers) a good hay crop is anticipated.

—The police seized a small quantity of liquors yesterday, on the premises of —— McHugh, on the Hampden road.

—We learn that the dam on Mattanawcook stream, at Folsom pond in Lincoln, was carried away yesterday. The dam was owned by the Mattanawcook Mills Company.

—The E. & N. A. locomotives "Winn" and "John Elliot" are at the Mattawamkeag machine shops, where they will be thoroughly repaired and put in order.

—Work has been recommenced on the Roman Catholic church edifice at Winn, and the exterior will doubtless be finished this season.

—St. John has a "Bangor House," a new hotel, very pleasantly located on the north side of King Square, and kept by J. H. Russell.

—The barque Ellen Morrison, (formerly a New Bedford whaler) 150 tons, recently purchased by Swett & Co., is to be altered in rig to a schooner. She arrived at this port Sunday.

—The new post office at East Winn is now in successful operation, writes our correspondent, the mail being carried there three times a week by J. W. Dow of the Springfield and Winn express.

—A horse took fright and started to run on Washington st., yesterday afternoon, and in turning the corner of Exchange st., fell heavily throwing out and badly bruising the boy who was driving.

—Deputy U. S. Marshal Head seized a 5-gallon keg, two 10-gallon kegs and a barrel containing liquors, on Joseph Nason's premises, Hammond st., yesterday afternoon, for violation of the revenue laws.

—The Republican District Convention for the election of two delegates to the National Convention at Philadelphia, will be held in City Hall in this city at 11 o'clock to-morrow forenoon.

—R. S. Prescott sells at 3 o'clock this afternoon the valuable "McGaw homestead" on Washington st.; and at 4 o'clock J. B. Foster sells a tenement in the frame block on Pine st., between Penobscot and Wharff sts.

—It is reported that Mr. Leslie of New York, will be down here in a few days to look over the proposed route for the Winterport Railroad with a view to making proposals to build the road.

SUDDEN DEATH. Mrs Hugh Gillogly, residing on Front street, ruptured an important blood vessel in her lungs, in a fit of coughing, Sunday evening, and died of the hemorrhage in a few minutes.

—The State Department has received intelligence of the death on February 24th, of Thomas P. Dolan of Houlton, a seaman on board the schooner Wm. A. Grozier, which was on the 22d of March repairing at Cape Town.

BOARD OF TRADE. An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade and Manufactures will be held in City Hall this evening. As matters of importance will come up for consideration, a large attendance of the members is desirable.

—Our Winn correspondent writes that logs are accumulating in great quantities at the head of the "Five Islands" and on the piers of the Mattawamkeag highway and railroad bridges, though the Mattawamkeag drive is not anticipated before the 20th.

—Mr. John Hopkins, residing on French st., offers a reward for the discovery of the bodies of the two boys drowned a short time since at Argyle boom, and requests all employes on the river between here and Pea Cove to be on the look-out for them.

—Patents were issued last week to the following citizens of Maine: Thomas B. Brown of Fairfield, for pulley block; Erastus Lane, Oldtown, for car coupling; Edward Fuller, Biddeford, for scissors sharpener; Clark Osgood, Cape Elizabeth, for street scraper; G. M. Stevens, Portland, for mitring machine.

—A horse attached to a dray-load of hoop-poles was "stuck" on Park-st. hill yesterday afternoon, when the animal was taken out and Mr. David Jordan attached to the load his powerful horse, which at once walked off with it. The total load, including dray, was afterwards weighed and found to be 2770 lbs.

OVERBOARD. A sailor fell overboard from a schooner near the ferry slip yesterday afternoon, but was rescued with no further injury than a good ducking.

The hat of another sailor, on a schooner just starting down river in tow of a tug, blew off and in attempting to regain it, its owner got a thorough wetting and was obliged to scull a boat in pursuit of his vessel nearly to High Head before he was picked up.

—The benefit concert given Mr. L. A. Torrens on Saturday evening by the singers of St. John, was very successful, though a heavy thunder shower in the early part of the evening prevented so large an attendance as there would have been had the weather been more favorable. Last evening Mr. Torrens, accompanied by Mrs. Crowell, Mrs. Waugh, Mr. Whitney, Mr. F. M. Laughton and Miss Clara F. Joy, gave a concert at Fredericton, by request of many prominent citizens, and from there will go to Houlton where they will give another concert.

—The damage in the office of Mr. G. W. Cummings on Broad st., by the fire yesterday morning, and the water [illegible] is about $150, which is covered by insurance. [illegible]

—One day last week a little son of Mr. J. M. Sullivan, residing on Centre st., got an oyster cracker in his throat, had almost ceased to breathe, and would doubtless have died in a few moments, had not his father adopted the somewhat dangerous expedient of pushing the offending substance down. Fortunately his amateur surgical operation proved successful and saved the boy's life.

LOWELL REFORM CLUB. Mr. Editor:—At a meeting held Friday evening last, the Lowell Reform Club was duly organized. An address was expected by Mr. Osgood of Gardiner, but he being absent, brief speeches were made by Elder Knowles, Hon. E. P. White and C. L. Webb, esq. During the evening one hundred persons came forward and signed the pledge, among whom were several of our most prominent citizens, many young men pledging themselves to abstain from all intoxicating drinks. May they have strength to hold to their resolutions. FRED.

TEMPERANCE IN OLDTOWN. Mr. Editor: The Baptist, Methodist and Congregational churches in Oldtown dispensed with their customary evening services on Sunday to attend an adjourned meeting of the Oldtown Washingtonian Temperance Society in the Town Hall. Mr. A. H. Weed, who occupied the chair, announced in a brief speech the object of the meeting. A prayer was then offered by the Rev. James Williams, and after singing by the united church choirs, the chairman called upon the Rev. H. W. Bolton for an address. The speaker gave a concise and graphic account of the tipsy solemnities practised on funeral occasions in the "good old times" of our grandfathers; and reviewing the history of prohibitory legislation, he contrasted the present enthusiasm for reform with the indifference and opposition which teetotalism had to encounter in other days.

Rev Mr. Williams was next called, and thought the best course was to take the victim of intemperance by the hand with the assurance of his friendship and sympathy.—It was the fashion in some places, he said, to vilify Oldtown as a den of drunkards; but he had never been insulted in its streets by a drunken person, and had never lived in a town where drunkenness was—proportionately to the population—less common.

The chairman then introduced Mr. Francis Murphy, who told with touching effect the story of his life.

The pledge was then presented and eighty-seven men and boys signed it. No ladies' signatures were obtained, the crowd around the platform preventing free access to the pledge. The exercises closed with a Doxology, and the meeting was adjourned to meet at the call of the Secretary. W. H. R.

THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG. The following correspondence between a number of our well known citizens and Col. Bachelder explains itself. The letter of Col. Bachelder contains much of interest to our readers:

BANGOR, May 7th, 1872.

Col. John B. Bachelder, Boston.

Dear Sir:—Having recently learned that you intend to remove from New England your celebrated painting of the Battle of Gettysburg, which has been exhibited for the past two years in many of the large places in the East, the subscribers, citizens of Bangor, some of whom are well acquainted with it, unite in requesting you to display your beautiful painting here, and if time will permit, deliver your course of Lectures explanatory of this, one of the three historic battles of the rebellion.

In addition to the great pleasure to be derived from reviewing your great work of art, acknowledged by all of both armies to be a most accurate delineation of that great struggle, and the very valuable assistance rendered by your Lectures in aiding the public to get a clear, accurate and entirely reliable account of the battle, we beg to remind you that it was only for want of proper accommodation last fall during the celebration of the opening of the E. & N. A. Railway that we were compelled to defer a similar invitation.

Our facilities for such purposes have been increased, and we feel we have a just claim upon you to come here with the painting before you go to the West.

Very truly,
Your ob't servants,
J. S. WHEELWRIGHT,
A. G. WAKEFIELD,
JOHN APPLETON,
C. W. ROBERTS,
A. C. HAMLIN,
JOHN F. GODFREY,
E. E. SMALL,
S. F. HUMPHREY,
And others.

127 Tremont Street,
BOSTON, May 9, 1872.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of the 7th, in which you invite me to take my painting of the Battle of Gettysburg to Bangor, and accompany its exhibition with a course of lectures on the battle, is received. I can well understand the interest which must be felt throughout your State in the history of Maine's gallant sons at Gettysburg.

It was the roar of Hall's guns on the 1st, that opened that important battle, where the lamented Reynolds went down in death, and after a day of stubborn strife, when the Union troops, overwhelmed by numbers were forced to leave the field, it was the 16th Maine that covered the retreat, gallantly holding a victorious foe until scarcely a man of the regiment escaped to tell the tale.

When the morrow came, the 3d Maine was selected to go to the front and reconnoitre the position of the enemy, and most satisfactorily was that important duty performed. And finally when the Confederate lines were formed and Hood with his wild Texans swept down on our left, it was the 4th Maine that first met his fierce attack among the rocks at the foot of Round Top. And when this position was flanked and the exultant Alabamians rushed up the ravine and for a moment held the Round Top as a prize, it was the 20th Maine that wrenched this key point from their grasp and marched an already victorious foe prisoners within our ranks. It was the 17th that held him so stubbornly at the wheatfield, that whirlpool of the battle of Gettysburg; and when, after hours of terrible carnage, the Union lines were again broken and being forced from the field, it was the 6th Maine battery that came galloping to the front and with double-shotted canister held the enemy at bay until the arrival of the 5th, 6th and 7th Maine, which after one of the hardest marches ever made by the Army of the Potomac, reached the field just in time to save the whole line from destruction.

When Hoke with his North Carolinians and Hayes with his Louisiana "Tigers" charged our position at the Cemetery, it was the 5th Maine battery that enfiladed their victorious lines, compelling them to abandon a prize already won.

When Wade Hampton with his bold riders attempted to turn our flank it was the 1st Maine cavalry that met him on the extreme right. And when, after three days of terrible carnage, Lee, in desperation, hurled his columns upon our centre, it was the 19th regiment that had the proud satisfaction of meeting the foe and witnessing his utter rout at the very high water mark of the rebellion.

It is not strange that you should feel an interest in the history of the acts of these noble men. It is a pleasure to me to speak of them.

I can uncover the painting of the Battle of Gettysburg in Bangor on the evening of May 20th, and will accompany its exhibition with the opening lecture on the battle.

I am, gentlemen,
Very truly yours,
JNO. B. BACHELDER.

TEMPERANCE.

FOURTH PUBLIC MEETING OF THE TEMPERANCE REFORM CLUB—SPEECHES BY MAYOR WHEELWRIGHT, O. H. INGALLS, S. F. WALKER, AND MRS. TANNER.

A large and enthusiastic Temperance meeting was held last evening at City Hall, Mayor Wheelwright presiding and making a few introductory remarks. He said that they should be obliged to rely on home talent chiefly for speaking. He would say a word in regard to the working and enforcement of the liquor law. Complaints were heard both from those in favor and those unfavorable to the law, some saying "you go too fast," others, "you are too slow." The law has been impartially enforced and little complaint been made, yet drunkenness is still in our midst. It is no argument against the law that it is violated, as all the laws on the Statute Books are sometimes violated, and there always will be those who will violate the law. One who had signed the pledge he was sorry to say had broken it and was in a terrible condition. Such a sight he had never seen before. Saturday evening the man was put in the lockup for drunkenness. The next morning there was some noise in the cell and on entering the man was found clinging to the iron grate, trembling all over and nearly mad. This was the result of drinking, and the first case of delirium tremens that the speaker had seen. There are those present who are in the habit of drinking whom he trusted would come forward and sign the pledge and by the blessing of God keep it.

At the close of his remarks the Mayor introduced Mrs. Tanner of Vermont, who spoke feelingly and eloquently. She said she came with a soul full of love and a heart beating in pity for those suffering from intemperance. We behold the effects of this evil everywhere, and should fail in the commonest duties of man and womanhood if we neglect to use every means in our power to combat it. We are all related; the interest of one is the interest of all, and whatever tends to elevate one tends also to the elevation of those that come within the scope of our influence and example. It is a beautiful thought that we can come together, religious opinions, sectarianism and politics, being laid aside, unite our strength and lift up our souls in this glorious work. King Alcohol now reigns; he takes and longest holds the throne; in fashion's way he entices the young, deludes the grave and drags them down to degradation. What is to be done? Long enough has he held his sway. Shall we not arise in our strength? Has the time not come when every one should arise and do something for those around him? God has given us a life for a wise purpose; we have not the right to abuse the gift by refusing to aid our fellow-beings. Woman's influence is all important; let her assert her true rights by joining in the crusade against the rum-seller by every means in her power. If woman had the ballot there would be no intoxicating liquor made or sold in the land; but still there is plenty for her to do. Mrs. Tanner closed with an earnest appeal to the ladies present to bring all their energies to bear in the great work of Temperance Reform.

The Mayor then presented the pledge for signatures and five responded to the call amid the cheers of the audience. One of the number, a middle aged man, after signing, gave to the Mayor a flask nearly half full of liquor, which was smashed upon the stand, the audience giving expression to their feelings in loud cheers.

Mr. O. H. Ingalls said that he thought there were two classes who ought to sign the pledge—the one not to drink the other not to sell intoxicating liquors to those who had pledged themselves, or indeed to any others.

Mr. S. F. Walker was called out and said that he was a radical temperance man; that he did not drink now, although it was occasionally said that he did from the redness of his face, but that was colored when he was young, and he had left off before it had grown pale by the still further use of liquor. Sixteen years ago he signed a pledge and that pledge had been kept. At Mount Hope he could point out the graves of eighty-seven young men with all of whom except three he had drank. He regarded intemperance as one of our greatest curses. Mr. Walker closed by saying he wished the Almighty would command the sun and moon to stand still as they once did, and that across their faces should be written "All who traffic in liquor shall be hung;" he would like to be appointed their hangman, give them thirty days to repent and then execute the sentence.

A number of signatures were obtained to the pledge, after which the meeting adjourned to Monday evening next.

A few years ago Mr. Fellows ventured to recommend a new combination of Hypophosphites (Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites) to the medical profession and the public, based upon the effects he himself experienced from its use; since then it has been employed with marked success in the treatment of various debilitating diseases, and the sale which was at first numbered by single bottles, has now reached large proportions, so that it is impossible to estimate the good results which have followed. Many cases of confirmed consumption are known to have been cured, in others the physical signs have disappeared, while great improvement has been marked in all. The inventor has yet to be informed of a single instance where Bronchitis, either acute or chronic, has not been successfully treated by it; while in other Lung difficulties, diseases of the Heart, Nervous System, and the Brain, it far surpasses everything hitherto known.

Its freedom from the constipating tendency of many otherwise valuable remedies, makes it obviously adapted to a wide range of diseases.

It is pleasing to note a chemical preparation emanating from a provincial town, prescribed by the leading medical men of the great cities, as is the case with this preparation.

MR. KINSMAN—I have been troubled with Asthma, attended with a Cough, ever since I was six years of age; have tried various remedies. Commenced using Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam some time in January, 1871, and it seemed to act like magic, curing me at once. I have had but little cough since, and I think it is the best remedy to be found for Asthma. I have since recommended it to quite a number, and it has given good satisfaction.

Triumphant for Twenty Years.—More than twenty years ago the MUSTANG LINIMENT made its debut in the West. Its cures of the various external diseases of horses and cattle, astonished the planters and farmers of the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and a demand for it sprung up which necessitated its manufacture on an extensive scale. Soon the discovery was made that it was a grand specific for rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, earache, toothache, and other external ailments of mankind. Then it was tried as a healing, pain killing application, in cases of outward injury, such as cuts, bruises, burns, spasms, &c., and was found equally serviceable. The fame of the new remedy for some of the most painful ills that afflict mankind and the lower animals, spread rapidly, and MUSTANG LINIMENT soon took rank in every State and Territory of the Union as a STANDARD CURE.

It has been proved beyond a doubt that there is no remedy equal to SMOLANDER'S BUCHU for toning and stimulating the nervous system, and by which means alone kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, mental and physical debility, diabetes, gravel, loss of vigor in either sex, and female complaints succumb and health is restored.

NOW

BY ROSE TERRY.

The sweet sad stir of Spring
 Is in my heart and brain,
I hear once more the wild brooks pour
 And the soft south wind complain.

Where all the hills were green
 Is a brown and barren waste;
But earth's fresh breath, that laughs at death,
 Tells how the buds make haste.

Through the gay and faded grass
 The green blades rise to light,
And the wind that grieves in the sweet dead leaves
 Is full of vague delight.

Will ever a spring-time come,
 In all life's lingering time,
That will not make my heart awake
 As it wakened in its prime?

With all these weary days
 So fill my soul with fears
That the wind's soft voice, when the woods rejoice,
 Shall only bring me tears?

Ah! never. The grass shall grow
 Though a thousand winters pass;
And the soul's fresh youth with tender truth
 Still spring to the springing grass.

EARLY PEAS AND SPINACH.—Mr. P. C. Reynolds, of Rochester, N. Y., in the Country gentleman, says:

The seeds of peas and spinach germinate in the earth at quite a low temperature, and the plants will endure considerable frost without injury,—hence they are among the first garden crops sown in the open air. As but little skill is required to grow peas, our city markets are liable to become overstocked with them, and the prices to decline below paying rates. But the markets generally open very high, and they who have a warm soil—sandy or gravelly loam, and a warm situation—descending towards the south, so that the rays of the midday sun fall almost vertically upon it, can make the growing of early peas profitable. But to raise early peas, we must not only sow them very early, on a warm soil, but we must sow the earliest varieties. There is a difference in time of maturing between our earliest and latest varieties of three or four weeks. Carter's First Crop will form full grown peas in the shortest time of all kinds that I have tested. It is of good-size, fair quality and very productive.—Sown as early as the ground is settled, we generally have it ready for the table before the middle of June—in favorable seasons, earlier. As the vine or haulm grows from two to two and a half feet in height it should be sown in drills about two and a half feet apart, and covered two inches deep. Covered deeper, they would hold out longer, but would not mature so early. Tom Thumb is the most easily grown of all the early peas, but I think about three days later than Carter's. As the haulm grows only 8 or 10 inches high, it can be sown in drills 12 to 15 inches apart, and the yield is immense. McLean's little gem is more excellent than either of the others, and is specially to be commended for family use. It is dwarf, green in color, wrinkled, and fairly productive. These three sorts make a very good list of early peas family use; for market I would omit McLeans. Long before green peas are ready for use, farmers' wives wander about the fields or marshes, or fence corners, or the road-side, searching for dandelion, or mustard, or cowslip, or some still viler weeds for greens. Now, by a little care and labor in the early part of September, and as soon as the ground can be worked in the spring, every gardiner can have the best of greens upon his table from the middle of April until the time of green peas. Three or four square rods of rich soil, sown at the times above mentioned to spinach, will afford an abundant supply for an average-sized family.—The ground should be very rich, should be spaded deep and fine, and the seed covered about an inch in drills one foot apart. Round-leaved or Summer is the best variety for spring sowing, and if sowed as early as possible, will be large enough to commence cutting the latter part of May.

MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties, with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect, but always relieving pain, however severe.

It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success.

The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are, Chilblains, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons, Pimples, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Deafness, Boils, Ring-worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples, Baldness, Swollen Breasts, Itch, Scald Head Teething, Chapped Hands, Scalds Cuts, Bruises, Croup, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children

It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied. Rub it on well with the hand three times a day. In several cases it has cured palsied limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy. Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications. For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately. Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve, and apply it freely, and they will find it invaluable. It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples. No way injurious, but sure to afford relief. Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently, once or twice a day. Cures deafness by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton. For Felons this is superior to anything known. For Pimples this acts like a charm. For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief. For Old Sores, apply once a day.

Not among the least of the invaluable properties of MISS SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair. Rubbed on the scalp, in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair. No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet. It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face.

From Mrs. ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.

Brunswick, April 4, 1867.

MISS SAWYER: I received your letter last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it, and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband, as he cannot get along without it. He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours, and we have both found it to be all, and even more, than you recommend it to be. We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal. I use it for a weak back, and it acts like a charm. Mr. Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years, and would be a cripple to-day, if he had not found a remedy in your Salve. It keeps it healed, and takes out the inflammation, proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask. I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything. I consider it invaluable in a family. If you can put this testimony together, and it can be of any service to you, you are welcome.

Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

If your Druggist is out of the Salve, and neglects to keep supplied, send seventy-five cents as directed below, and receive a box by return mail.

Put up in Large Boxes at 50 cents each (nearly three times as large as the box represented above). Prepared by MISS C. SAWYER, and put up by L. M. ROBBINS, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Rockland, Me. A Trial Box sent free by mail on receipt of seventy-five cents, by L. M. ROBBINS, Rockland, Me.

THIS VALUABLE SALVE IS SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

75,000 Acres

OF GOOD

Timber Land

For Sale at a Low Rate,

Situated on Moose River, in the town of Greig, Lewis County, New York.

Said timber consisting of White Hemlock, Spruce, Pine and Hardwood. The subscribers own two large tanneries, located on the aforesaid tract, which will consume the hemlock bark, thus enabling the land and timber to be purchased at a comparatively cheap rate. The timber is excellent in quality in all particulars. The aforesaid tract of land is easy of access, being only from six to fifteen miles from both the Black River R. R. and Black River Canal, which lead direct to the Albany Market. The land is comparatively level, well watered and good for farming purposes. Moose River, which extends through the tract, is a large stream and empties into Black River, where the aforesaid Canal leads into Black River. At this point or junction of the rivers, is a fall of sixty (60) feet, over which the waters of both rivers flow, thus forming an unlimited water power, (we might say right in the Canal and at the Depot,) to which Moose River will carry the immense amount of timber from the aforesaid lands.

Any parties desiring to manufacture lumber will do well to give this rare opportunity their attention. The land and timber can be purchased at a cheap rate or the timber alone permitted.

Health Notice.

To the Citizens of Bangor.

The State has provided that certain measures shall be pursued in order to insure the health of the inhabitants. Among these measures are the removing of filth, uncleanand noisome substances, and all things injurious to health, from the premises of citizens. Permit me to suggest to you,

1st—To examine your cellars particularly, their condition in regard to ventilation, dampness, decaying vegetables, and all filthy substances.

2d—See if there is any offensive smell from your sinks, or if your drains are clogged or uncovered.

3d—Examine your privies and vaults. If they are full, running over, or filthy, or smell badly, have them emptied.

4th—See if there are decaying substances or filth of any kind about your premises.

5th—See if there is any public nuisance in your neighborhood, such as open sewers drains, cesspools, stagnant water, offensive stables, hog sties, &c.

6th—See if any drain, cesspool, privy, stable, or hog sty, is so near to your well as to soak or drain into it. By observing and carrying out the above suggestions you will confer a favor on the public, and a blessing on yourself.
